- Large Firms
- Consumer Interests
- Demand and Supply
- Producer Interests

Considerations
- With special-interest groups free to rent-seek, PTA outcomes could be less efficient
- Especially actors who will suffer losses have strong incentive to lobby
- Structural change in PTA can be facilitated through a compensation mechanism
- Compromises will have to be made across groups
- Importance of establishing channels of communication with different groups before and during negotiations

Conclusion

• The importance of proper research and stakeholders consultations in the design of trade agreements – very important and essential

• There can be several problems associated with:
  • Conflicting interests
  • Domestic policies
  • Inefficiencies
  • Large industry vrs. SME
Lessons

• Trade can be an important means of implementation for attaining SDGs.
• Tremendous potential exist for production and export of CSGT in Asia Pacific.
• Even MFN tariffs on these items are lower.
• Countries are liberalizing these items in PTAs/FTAs. But needs to be established if this is as a conscious policy to liberalise CSGT or in general.
• Non-tariff issues are not yet addressed, especially standards maintained due to environmental reasons.
• Technology transfer on these items need to be facilitated as market access is not the only solution.
