Seventh Session
Committee on Social Development

06-08 September
Bangkok (Online Platform)
Honorable Chair,
Distinguished Participants,

Very Good Afternoon.

Let me begin by thanking the Chair and the other members of the Committee for giving the chance. It is indeed an honour to be present here amongst you and speak about our endeavors towards implementation of the provisions of Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (hereinafter “CRPD”) in line with Incheon Strategy in our national context.

Bangladesh ratified CRPD in 2007. To put this piece of information into perspective I would like to shed some lights on our journey from a just struggle to freedom and thereafter to an inclusive society.

The Government of Bangladesh is committed to address the disability rights issues with a whole-of-society approach including through family, development partners, Parliamentarians, media, National Human rights Commission and others.

Honourable Chair,

Bangladesh is governed by the National Constitution (1972) which is based on the principles of equality, human dignity, and social justice for all citizens, as declared in the “Proclamation of Independence of Bangladesh”. The Constitution mandates equality, non-discrimination, and creates room for equitable measures to ensure that all backward & underprivileged sections of the population interact with all, on an equal basis with others.

The general principles and obligations of the CRPD are similar to the general and fundamental principles and directives of the Constitution of Bangladesh. As such, Bangladesh made no reservation while ratifying the Convention and thus is pledge-bound to adhere to the content and spirit of the CRPD, which starts with a right-based social model in its definition and classification of disability.

Distinguished participants,

The Government has created enabling environment through setting up legal framework through enacting Acts, formulating a number of rules/regulations, policies and work plans in order to take subsequent initiatives and measures in accordance with the provisions of the CRPD and Incheon Strategy. The names of the legal instruments itself would provide a clear message as to how intensely Bangladesh has been focusing to ensure that the rights enshrined in the CRPD, including rights of women with disabilities, rights of children with disabilities, rights to life, equality, non-discriminatory treatment, education, health, freedom of expression, mobility, accessibility, health, work and employment, rehabilitation, standard of living, are being progressively realized. Honourable Chair,

The COVID-19 crisis has exacerbated the pre-existing vulnerabilities of persons with disabilities. Our Government, therefore, adopted an inclusive and human-centered approach in its COVID-19 response and recovery efforts. We continue to intensify focus on imperatives for persons with disabilities through social and economic participation.

Thank you very much.
