

Perspectives on the APFSD and HLPF theme 2022 “Building back better from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) while advancing the full implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development”

Friday, 29 October 2021; 16:20 – 17:40 hrs (Seoul Time: UTC +9)
Virtual meeting

Overview

Progress towards the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) was already stalled in North-East Asia, and the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) crisis has further compromised their full achievement by 2030. While no country has been spared from the impacts of the pandemic, the degree of the impacts and their consequential damage on the SDG progress between countries has been asymmetric. The Asia-Pacific SDG Partnership Report 2021: Responding to the COVID-19 Pandemic – Leaving No Country Behind, developed in collaboration with the Asian Development Bank (ADB) and the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), identified such contrasting impacts due to the divergent pre-existing economic, social and environmental vulnerabilities in and response capacities of the countries and helped share an understanding of the underlying vulnerabilities and capacities of the countries in the Asia-Pacific Region.

When considering the existing divergence in resources and capacities across the North-East Asian countries, further discussion at the subregional- and country-level becomes crucial in fully understanding and identifying the unique needs, tools and operational frameworks necessary to ensure that no country is left behind throughout the recovery process from COVID-19 and beyond as called for by the 2022 HLPF theme “Building back better from COVID-19 while advancing the full implementation of the 2030 Agenda.”

In view of the impact that COVID-19 has had on the Asia-Pacific region, the 2022 Asia-Pacific SDG Partnership Report will examine how the region can increase its resilience through an inclusive and sustainable response to recover from the pandemic. In so doing, it will explore trajectories for resilient and inclusive recovery in social and environmental dimensions that can address inequalities in recovery pathways within and between countries, to accelerate sustainable development aligned with the SDGs, with specific emphasis on the goals under review at the 2022 HLPF: Goal 4 on quality education; Goal 5 on gender equality; Goal 14 on life below water; Goal 15 on life on land and Goal 17 on partnerships for the goals.

In this context, ADB, UNDP and ESCAP are organizing a virtual policy dialogue to identify subregional challenges and development priorities, and brainstorm cooperation measures that will support the North-East Asian subregion to recover from the COVID-19 pandemic and continue progress toward achieving the SDGs. The discussion points of the virtual dialogue will feed into the thematic priorities of and examples shared in the 2022 Asia-Pacific SDG Partnership Report.

Objectives

- Identify the unique set of challenges and needs of North-East Asia and its subregions, and discuss concrete collaborations that could be developed with partners;
- Expand field of work to incorporate a subregional perspective within subregions to better support ESCAP member States; and
- Gather information on priorities, policies, stakeholder-led initiatives and projects for possible inclusion in the 2022 SDG Partnership report that are related to the HLPF theme 2022 “Building back better from the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) while advancing the full implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development” and the SDGs under review: Goal 4 on quality education; Goal 5 on gender equality; Goal 14 on life below water; Goal 15 on life on land and Goal 17 on partnerships for the goals.

Target Audience

Participants will include official representatives from the subregion, various United Nations organizations, civil society representatives, non-governmental organizations, academic institutions, the private sector representatives, and regional and international organizations.
