Mr. Chairman,

Distinguished delegates,

Allow me to congratulate you, Mr. Chairman, upon your assumption of chairmanship of this important regional review process. I would also like to commend the Regional UN Network on Migration for Asia and the Pacific for organizing this meeting, despite the challenges, in the midst of a pandemic.

Mr. Chairman,

This regional review comes at a critical time. It is taking place after one full year of global efforts to fight the coronavirus pandemic. When we adopted the Global Compact on Migration in 2018, we had no idea what the world was about to be confronted with. We had no idea how the COVID-19 pandemic would so fundamentally impact migration.
If the pandemic has taught us anything, it has taught us how interconnected and vulnerable we are, and how much we depend on each other for our health and well-being. In this context, we cannot stress enough the importance of international and regional cooperation and sharing what we have learned.

Thailand is of the view that the GCM continues to represent a solid framework for promoting safe, orderly and regular migration as well as for responding to the adverse impacts of COVID-19 on migrants. Moreover, it is based on the correct assumption that migrants must be seen as a part of the solution and, in the long run, as a crucial partner for sustainable development.

Mr. Chairman,

Thailand has made important progress in our first years of GCM implementation. We have set up a national inter-agency working group and adopted a national GCM implementation plan for 2020-2022. The plan is a ‘living document’ aimed at promoting safe, orderly and regular migration through a whole-of-government and whole-of-society approach. Concrete projects are being pursued in support of GCM objectives.

Mr. Chairman,

The advent of COVID-19 did not diminish our efforts on the GCM. Instead, it mobilized us to work even faster on many issues. In the immediate term, we extended stay and work permits for migrants to minimize the adverse impacts of the pandemic on their livelihoods. We were also forced to speed up and clarify the integration of disease prevention and care for migrants as an integral part of our public health strategies. The Ministry of Public Health has worked proactively to ensure the inclusiveness of health services, including through the introduction of a Health Insurance
Scheme for migrants in the informal sectors, the deployment of migrant health volunteers and interpreters in provinces with a concentration of migrant workers and the establishment of a COVID-19 migrants hotline, with good cooperation from various partners.

We have also made progress on our efforts to provide alternatives to child immigration detention or ATD. In Thailand’s context, the persistence of networks of people smuggling is a real concern; and implementing ATD will continue to require strong and seamless inter-agency coordination. In very practical terms, it also requires resources and capacity building for officers on the ground. We are pleased to share and learn from others on this topic and are co-hosting a side event with UNICEF and the International Detention Coalition (IDC) on Friday, which we would like to invite you to attend.

Mr. Chairman,

The findings of this regional review as well as the Asia Pacific Migration Report 2020 are critical for our work ahead. Thailand looks forward to engaging actively with other Member States and stakeholders, and looks forward to progressive outcomes at this meeting.

I thank you.
