Webinar on Inequalities in CRVS:
Let’s really get every one in the picture!

Area 1. Qualitative inequality assessments for CRVS systems

Our Bali Process Toolkit Experience

25 January 2021, 12:00 – 13:30 (BKK Time)
Background and context

Project Title: Bali Process Civil Registration Assessment Toolkit
Focus/Aim: Inclusive CR policies and practices: Increased registration among refugees, asylum seekers, stateless persons and persons of undetermined nationality
Main stakeholders: Members of the “Bali Process on People Smuggling, Trafficking in Persons and Related Transnational Crime (Bali Process)”, supported by the Bali Process Regional Support Office and UNHCR
Main results/outputs/outcome (list 3-5 only)
1. Design of the CR Assessment Toolkit
2. Pilot studies in Thailand, Viet Nam and Pakistan (ongoing)
3. National Assessment Reports
5. Definition of CR Targets
Q1.1. Why we embarked on this project/pilot study

- Human rights
- Security
- Development

Human rights of persons under UNHCR’s protection mandate
- Rights to civil registration (CR) and legal identity (LI)
- Rights resulting from CR and LI: health, education, movement, livelihood
- CR and LI as tools to reduce statelessness risks
Q2. What were the main challenges

- Large target groups
- Geographics of marginalization
- Resource constraints
Q3. What are our key learnings from using the Bali Toolkit?

- Success is based upon State ownership.
- Adaptation of the toolkit to local context is key.
- Assessment tools can be used for various excluded population groups.
- Inclusion of marginalized groups in existing mainstream systems is advisable.
- Opportunities for immediate solutions arise throughout the process.
Q4. Related frameworks/tools we are using to complement our work on assessing inequality in CRVS

- Joint activities with ASEAN, in particular ACWC and AICHR
- UN LIA Working Groups on the national level
- UNICEF – UNHCR Global Coalition on Every Child’s Right to a Nationality
- UNHCR-internal: Strengthening support for national identity management
- Global Action Plan to End Statelessness 2014-2024
