

Recap for Session 5 - WGC

- Effective national planning systems remain critical for implementing the national development priorities and the SDGs.
- National plans which align and integrate relevant global commitments, remain the master strategy for implementing national priorities.
- Plans need to be effectively linked to the national budget and development partner support.
- Ongoing monitoring, evaluation and reporting of national development plans and sector plans is important - can be used for VNR reporting purposes and assessing policy choices.

Discussion issues for Session 5 - WGC

- How well are relevant global and national plan commitments aligned at sector and corporate plan levels – and the national budget?
- Interlinkages across sectoral and cross-sectoral sustainable development aspects, considered in the national plans/ budgets?
- Are development initiatives in the national/ sector plans costed?
- Development partner resourcing aligned towards national priorities?